PROMINENT HUNGARIAN PROFESSOR GIVES TWO ADDRESSES IN CHAPEL

European Scholar and Lecturer Dwells on Conditions in Europe Today

SEES ANOTHER WAR

Exiled Educator Says Aid of American People Is A Necessity

Professor Oscar Jaszi, Hungarian political leader and liberalist, spoke in the chapel of the University of Kentucky Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock.

He voiced the idea that Europe is headed for another war with a termination which will perhaps be more disastrous than any previous war in Central Europe. "A new mediaeval spirit is spreading over the whole of Europe, which scoffs at all international morality and regards force as the final tribunal," the speaker said.

According to Professor Jaszi, war or the adoption of the Anglo-Saxon idea of League confederation of states by the countries of the Danube, will be the only way out of the political and economic struggle in Central Europe.

Speaking from first hand knowledge, a Hungarian and living in Hungary until exiled five years ago because of political tenets, Professor Jaszi said:

Hungarian Situation is Key

"The situation in Hungary is the key to the central European problem and, as such, should be of keen interest to those concerned in the political and economic welfare of the middle empires."

In speaking of Hungary's importance in central Europe, he said that Hungary today is being ruled by the military class which is seeking and hoping for war and the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty.

The central European trouble has its roots in the economic and moral collapse of its people after the war and in the tearing asunder of the coun-

PLAN TO PENSION AGED PROFESSORS PROPOSED ON UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

Each Instructor Would Donate A Small Sum of Each Month's Salary

FIRST PLAN OF ITS KIND

University Would Be Asked To Contribute a Sum Equal to Donations

A movement to pension the professors of the University who are compelled to retire from active service on account of advanced years, was recently started on the campus. The plan is as yet in its infancy and no definite steps have been taken except a mere discussion of a means by which a fund may be established.

The general conception of the plan is to have various professors donate a small sum, probably five dollars a month, to a fund which will be placed on interest. As a professor reaches the age limit this will be used to pay such parts of the annual salaries as the plan will permit. Professor Leland, of Economics Department, has been asked to work out mathematically a plan for the best handling of such funds. The scheme contemplates also, asking the University to match the funds thus collected with the appropriation of an equal sum. The problem is considered by members of the faculty as one of great interest and will require considerable study and work before it can be submitted. It is hoped that the plan will be ready to present to the entire faculty during the current semester.

This is the first plan of its kind considered in any University or College.

K

KENNETH TUGGLE, JUNIOR, TO REPRESENT UNIVERSITY

Kenneth Tuggle, of Barbourville, was selected to represent the University of Kentucky in the southern oratorical contest to be held at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., April 12, in tryouts held Saturday in the University chapel.

Five students competed in the tryouts. The contest is held each year under the auspices of the Southern Oratorical Association, composed of the leading institutions of the south, among them, Johns Hopkins University, University of Virginia, University of the South, Vanderbilt and the University of Kentucky.

Tuggle is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. As a freshman in the University of Kentucky, he was a valuable member of the debating team. In his sophomore year, he attended Ohio State University, but on account of not being in college there the previous semester, was ineligible for any oratorical contests or debates.

FIRST PERFORMANCE OF STROLLERS IS APRIL 21

"Seventeen" Will Have Its Initial Performance At Cynthiana

Rehearsals for the Stroller play, "Seventeen," are going nicely and the cast will be ready for its initial performance on April 21, at Cynthiana, according to a statement given out by Earl Maxwell Heavrin, director. Plans for the scenery have been completed and the stage crew will start its work in the Stroller room this week.

Two other names were added to the Stroller staff Saturday when Phillip Rusch was elected assistant stage manager and Stanley Griffith was appointed property man. The remaining appointments for the stage crew have not yet been made.

It will be of interest to students to know that the government has granted the Strollers a redemption in tax, due to the fact that the organization is now an educational institution and is under the supervision of the business office of the University. Stuart Walker has also given them a great reduction in cost of performances which amounts to a great deal in the Stroller budget. They have chartered a tourists' car which also aids in reducing the expenses of the organization.

The request for dates of performance has passed the council and the following places will be visited:

Cynthiana, April 21; Lexington, April 24 and 25; Richmond, May 7; Harlan, May 8; Pineville, May 9.

MAJOR-GENERAL VISITS UNIT FOR INSPECTION

Chief of U. S. Infantry Spends Thursday of Last Week on Campus

Major-General Charles S. Farnsworth, Chief of Infantry, in the United States Army, visited the Military Department of the University, Thursday, March 20. General Farnsworth included the University of Kentucky in his tour of inspection which he is making to all colleges having R. O. T. C. Infantry units.

The entire morning was spent in classroom inspection. He was a guest of the Rotary Club for lunch, returning to the University at 1:30 to inspect the rifle range and various other workings of the Military Department.

At 3:30 General Farnsworth met the regiment in chapel, the plans for review having been changed because of inclement weather. Colonel Freeman introduced the General, who made a short but very forceful address which was followed by talks by Dean Anderson.

Alumni Notes

Editor—Alumni Secretary

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE DID FOR US.

Now that the Legislature of 1924 has convened, done its work and adjourned it will be well to call the attention of all the alumni to its work and note just what has been accomplished for either the good or detriment of the University.

Before going into the work of that legislative body it will not be inappropriate to say that the alumni of "Old State" who sat in the two houses of the General Assembly were at all times loyal and watchful of the University's interest so far as has been learned.

To Senator H. M. Brock, ex-'04, and Representatives J. F. Bosworth, ex-'86, O. C. Gartin, class of '20, Jack Howard, class of '20, J. W. McFarlin class of '93, and Allen B. Cammack, ex-'23, the University of Kentucky owes a debt of gratitude for interest they took in advancing any thing which would aid its development. Especially credit should be given to Senator Arch L. Hamilton, and Representatives Harry B. Miller and Sam H. Cole, all three Alumni, who represented Fayette county at Frankfort. These men were willing at all times to lend assistance to the University. And to the great number of men who were loyal to the University because it was simply an institution of the State, praise is also due.

Late last Monday night Governor W. J. Fields, himself an alumnus of the University, struck from House Bills 534 and 535 special appropriations to the University which would have amounted to $105,000 in the next two years. The $75,000 which was to have been used to complete Kastle Hall, the new chemistry building, was lost by this action.

The other $30,000 was an appropriation to the Experiment Station for the purpose of conducting research work in diseases of tobacco.

With this loss what has the University of Kentucky gained by the legislature? For one thing the $75,000,000 bond issue sponsored by Governor Fields will be submitted to a vote of the people. If it passes $5,000,000 would be available for the University in the next six or eight years. Its passage depends to a large extent upon the amount of work the alumni do in its behalf.

With the exception of the bond issue the only other bills bringing aid to the University are Senate Bill 87, which appropriates $25,000 for the establishment of a sub-experiment station on the Robinson tract of land in Eastern Kentucky, B. S. 90 gives the law library free state reports, H. B. 88 gives the main library free reports and acts of the assembly and other copies of state publications; H. B. 277 establishes a sub-experiment station in Caldwell county and H. B. 318 changes the rate of taxes coming to the University from 14 cents on the $100 worth of taxable property to 2.130 cents. This is in fact a considerable increase and should give the annual budget an increase of $75,000, according to Rainey T. Wells, of the state tax commission and trustee of the University. Another bill gives the University 4.16 of all the inheritance tax of the state. This is but a change of an old provision and will not add any great amount to the income of the institution.

In all not much has been done for the University of Kentucky. A few free books, some money to spend in the distant ends of the state and a chance at the bond issue. They are all good things but they do not give the University a chance for the immediate expansion so greatly desired and needed.

NINE CLASSES TO REUNITE

Program for Banquet During Commencement Has Been Made

Nine classes will hold reunions during commencement this year, in accordance with the plan of allowing each class a reunion every five years. The classes to hold reunions in June are: 1896, 1899, 1904, 1909, 1914, 1919 and 1921.

their classes and see how large a delegation they can show here during commencement this summer.

The program for the reunion of the classes has been arranged as follows: Saturday morning, May 31, the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association will be held; Saturday afternoon will be class day; and Saturday night the annual alumni banquet will be held.

WANT STANLEY AT GRIDIRON

Alpha Delta Sigma at Work to Prepare Program for Alumni

The members of Alpha Delta Sigma, who are already planning for the best gridiron dinner of all, this year, have the ambition of entertaining Senator A. O. Stanley as one of the guests at the third annual gridiron dinner to be held during commencement in June.

Last week Senator Stanley was in Lexington and some of the late active members saw him in regard to the possibility of his being present. Owen Reynolds, class of '16, former national officer of Alpha Delta Sigma, has written Senator Stanley inviting him to be present.

On the night of the gridiron dinner Alpha Delta Sigma entertains its guests instead of asking the guests to entertain them. But that no man may feel slighted, after the regular program is completed, everybody that desires to do so is given an opportunity to make a speech.

Tom R. Underwood, of the Lexington Herald, ex-class of '19, was elected last year to be chairman at the dinner this spring. A number of men who prepared the first two programs are already at work upon plans for the affair this year.

The persons invited to attend the gridiron dinner are largely alumni and former students of the University.

The ball room was decorated with palms and ferns which were about the punch table. The illuminated shield of the fraternity hung on the wall at the extreme end of the ball room and during the "no-break" dances, the many colored lights were thrown on it, adding a lovely effect. The Kentuckians furnished a special program of music.

GREETINGS!

With this issue of the Kernel, the new staff assumes its duties. In accordance with custom, a new regime always defines its policies. The policy of the new Kernel staff will be to support the University in all its undertakings. It will endeavor to be a fair exponent of the student body and alumni of the University. It will endeavor to carry forward the work in the same manner in which its predecessors have so ably done for years past.

Inasmuch as the Kernel is a student publication for the students, it seeks the co-operation of every student on the campus. If you have any knocks to make bring 'em to us and call our attention to the deficiencies. We will appreciate suggestions as to how we may make the Kernel better and more interesting. Co-operation of the faculty and of the alumni is also solicited, for it is only by co-operation that we are able to do any real service for our Alma Mater.

Write to the Kernel and tell us wherein we are "falling down" or wherein we excel. Let's get together and boost Kentucky.

K

Coach Murphy is endeavoring to build a winning football machine for next year. It is obvious that the time to start such construction is NOW! The call for spring training was made four weeks ago and a fair number of candidates responded.

The new coach will endeavor to build the team on the principle that brains are stronger than brawn or beef. To this end he has been expounding theories and plays to the candidates. A man who really knows the game of football is much more valuable than the man with nothing more than the strength of the proverbial bull.

The student body at large should take an active interest in the success of the team. Every able-bodied man who has even seen a football game should go out for spring training if he can possibly do it. The present squad has been divided into two groups under the leadership of last year's captain, Dell Ramsey, and Captain Curtis Sanders. Next week these teams will begin actual practice and scrimmage on Stoll Field. It is the hope of the coaching staff that enough men will come out to make four or five teams.

Kentucky looks forward to the fall session when she will have one of the best teams in the south. But she cannot have such a team if the student body does not take an active part in the training of this team. Let's play football NOW!

THE OIL SCANDAL

Since the escapade of Adam and Eve in the garden, never has such far reaching consternation been caused by a "Fall," and, as in the former scandal, circumstances have been developed by everyone telling on somebody else. Even President Coolidge, playing the outraged cherub, has in the last few days been suspected of taking a sip from the forbidden tea-pot.

Edward B. McLean, recently made famous for his variations on the $100,000.00 theme, was found to have had a leased wire installed from the Washington Post building to his residence at Palm Beach, for the alleged purpose of receiving a digest of general, daily news. However, the exclusiveness of the proceedings aroused the immediate curiosity of the Senate O.I. Investigating Committee, for the more suspiciously private one in Washington today, the more public will he be tomorrow. Since then the committee has been engaged in deciphering quaintly coded telegrams, but with little results so far, except that the lay of the land suggests that oil is somewhere in the vicinity.

Owing to a peculiar phrase, said to have been included in one of the messages, that the wire would afford "easy access to the White House," and to the report that one of the White House telegraph operators had been employed to manage the wire after office hours, the President was asked to elucidate upon these unpleasant suggestions before the Senate. Coolidge endeavored to comply with the request through his private secretary, who made a rather hopeless botch of things, and a still more peremptory demand was issued that the President appear in person to explain the secretary's explanation.

All this brought out one of those delectable situations that occasionally give the Congressional Record a lively tang as though it were written by Margot Asquith. Senator Lodge, that irritable, old, pedigreed mascot, so long the pet of his party, sanctimoniously rebuked his associates for bringing the sacred name and person of the President of the United States into senatorial squabbling. Much to the gratification of those who are not entertained by the Massachusetts Senator's repertoire of tricks, Senator Harrison of Mississippi aptly called his attention to the fact that his spiteful snapping at Woodrow Wilson's heels to the very gates of death, kept his pious attitude from being altogether effective.

Secretary Fall, who like a wood-pussy has besprinkled his pursuers and confiners, seems, according to the satisfactory sniffs of the Investigating Committee to have spared President Coolidge from the ineradicable odium of his highly scented oil.

NOTE—The foregoing editorial was written by Miss Susan Clay, a student in the Senior class in Journalism. The Kernel does not necessarily concur in views thus presented in these editorials, but is glad to print them as showing the scope of work done by these students.

DIGGIN' IN

Anything is to be expected from a girl, just anything. First they bobbed their hair, then rolled their eyes, then they did it all, man a-stockings, rouged their lips and painted their faces as a matter of course, natural occurrence. But all of this did not worry the average stude, for the sole reason that it did not inconvenience him.

In fact these idiosyncrasies helped him, especially bobbed hair, for its coming erased for him many an hour's wait on Sunday evening in the parlor while his "best" who would otherwise be arranging her coiffure, could now, with the aid of bobbed hair, be presentable in half the time.

But at last the worst has come, they are skating. The side walks and asphalt streets are becoming a place where pedestrians and automobilists may no longer walk or ride in safety.

Whatever it is all about, a stude made the wise crack the other day that "girls will be girls even if they are co-eds." This seems to be the only conclusion that will ever be arrived at logically or illogically, so it is to the male stude to accept and patiently dodge while they skate, for they must be humored.

Our only regret is that SKATING is the latest nuisance in which they have chosen to indulge. Why won't they be sensible and stick to bridge or Mah Jong for recreation.

The new basketball building has four sets of steps attached to it. Won't this addition to the campus make many a "Patt" Hall girl happy when spring with its moon-lighted nights come round?

"Uncle" Enoch has offered a prize for the best poem written by a student for publication in the Kernel. Wonder what he has against the Kernel?

If you happen to be broke when your room rent comes due, don't worry, there is always some one worse off than you, think of the senior girls at the sorority houses. They haven't had a home in three years.

We hear that the Woman's Self Government Association is preparing to hold an election. What an authority on political science the chosen one will have to be.

American Aid Necessary

He pointed out that America cannot afford to be unmindful of the conditions in central Europe, either from an economic or humanitarian viewpoint. "Europe is so demoralized, so devoured by race hatred, that she cannot solve her problems without your help. We are almost lost without the powerful aid of the American people."

Professor Jaszi has been an exile from his country for five years on account of political tenets, and is touring the country as a European exchange lecturer under the auspices of the International Educational Association. SUMMER SCHOOL WILL OFFER LARGER PROGRAM; NINE WEEKS' SESSION

Citizenship School Expanded

Among the special features of the session will be a School for Citizenship conducted by the Kentucky League of Women Voters. The program for this will be greatly enlarged for 1924. There will also be conducted a conference for collegiate registrars. This plan originated at the University of Kentucky last year and registrars from Kentucky colleges and colleges in several adjoining states were in attendance. A special program will be provided for that conference this year and an attempt made to make it a permanent feature for the future. Systematized trips through the Blue Grass section and other points of interest in Kentucky have been planned by way of recreation. Guides will be furnished and each party placed in charge of some person familiar with the places visited.

For the past two years the summer session has experienced a rapid growth, the increase amounting to more than two hundred per cent in three years. This summer a considerable increase is expected and the facilities have been greatly expanded to meet that demand. The coming session is expected to bring large numbers to the University of Kentucky for higher degrees and honors.

THIRD OFFERING IS NOW SHOWING AT ROMANY

Booth Tarkington's, "The Intimate Strangers," Pleases Audiences.

"The Intimate Strangers," Booth Tarkington's exquisite comedy, the third in the series of offerings by the Romany Theatre, is the bill for the current week in that attractive playhouse. Audiences throughout the week have shown their appreciation by their constant chuckles during the performances and their emphatic applause of the various outstanding episodes of the comedy.

The cast consisted of eight persons among whom appeared four novices with the Romany crew. These were Augustus Gay, Mable Sadler, Samuel Hubley and John Taggart. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Gay is a late comer into this group of players, his former achievements with the Strollers during his college days won for him the outstanding role of an elderly bachelor who carries the burden of the comedy. The other three novices had minor parts which they played well with an attention to detail which works all Romany productions.

The chief roles of the comedy were entrusted to the veteran players in the Romany service, Misses Marjory Warden, Violet Young, and Regina Stanfield, and Oskar Hambleton who sustained the enviable records which they have hitherto made during this winter's offerings.

Miss Warden as the seventeen year-old flapper easily makes the transition from the more serious roles which she has played, to the one of pure comedy, which she is enacting in "Intimate Strangers."

Miss Young is charming in the dignified role of a young great aunt whose age is much in question.

Miss Stanfield as the elderly Aunt Ellen, had a more charming part than she has formerly played in which she gracefully represents an older generation.

Oskar Hambleton, who has already made himself known as a young comedian, represents a young man in which his drollery and natural fine comprehension of the real purports of comedy makes his part a delight.

To the Romany stage crew and Art Director goes the praise for the stage settings which in every way furnish exactly the proper atmosphere.

INCLEMENT WEATHER HITS BASEBALL WORK

Opening Game of the Season Will Be Played With Indiana April 10

Bad weather—the worst curse that can befall a baseball team—has hit the Wildcat squad with "all fours" and has been hovering over them for the last two weeks. Up to the present week only one practice, on the field, has been held and it was a six inning affair between two teams chosen by Coach Barger.

Monday afternoon the sun was shining bright and everything was ideal for a good practice with the exception of the infield which was still wet from the recent rains and the boys had to be satisfied with batting practice and work in the outfield. The pitchers warmed up and the outer gardeners chased a few flies, while the infielders had to satisfy themselves with passing to each other.

The first real practice of the afternoon was held Tuesday afternoon when Coach Barger placed nine men on the field and kept nine others to face them and the first practice game was staged. The men lined up as follows:

Miller	1B	F. Adams
Rouse	2B	Anderson
Alberts	SS	Jones
Adams	3B	Morris
Hughes	LF	Boarn
Vossmeier	CF	Barnes
J. Riffe	RF	Stith
Stokes	P	Jess Riffe
Henry	C	Sauer

At present there are about thirty-five men out for practice and everyone is working hard, especially the pitchers, as they have to take advantage of every minute during the good weather in order to get their arms in shape. According to Coach Barger, hard practices will be held every day from now on as the first game will be played April 10, with the University of Indiana.

This will be the first time that two teams have met for several years and every effort will be taken to show the lads from the Hoosier State that there are still some Earl Combs in Kentucky that have not yet been discovered. April 12, the Wildcats meet the nine from Michigan and the 16th they will face Notre Dame. As can readily be seen the first games of the season will be the hardest, therefore many days of hard practice will be necessary in order for the athletes to be in condition by April 10.

In Riffe, Vossmeier, Hughes, Stokes, True and Samuels, Coach Barger has one of the best pitching staffs that the University has produced in several years. Turner Gregg, pitching ace of the Wildcats last year, made his first appearance Monday but was unable to participate in the practice because of a broken thumb.

WILDCAT TRACK TEAM ENTERED IN LOUISVILLE

University Sends Strong Delegation to Indoor Meet

TWELVE CATS MAKE TRIP

Face Strong Competitors From Best Amateur Organizations in Country

The Wildcat track team, twelve strong, will go to Louisville Saturday morning to participate in the annual indoor meet there. Many of the best amateur organizations in the country will be represented at the meet, among them the Illinois Athletic Club, which will be represented by Joie Ray, one of the best distance runners in the United States.

The University of Kentucky athletes are going to the tourney with the determination to annex some of the points but are not expecting to win it because of the strong competition and because of the fact that the Kentucky boys have not had the proper amount of training due to inclement weather.

Brady, in the pole vault, was the only University of Kentucky man to win points in the Cincinnati meet which was the first one that the Wildcats have participated in this season. The Kentucky aggregation is strong this year in the distance events with Ray Hall, of Louisville, carrying the Blue and White colors. In the dashes Kentucky is well represented by Nantz and Tracy, both of them extremely fast. The Wildcats are expected to make a good showing in the mile relay with Miller and Tracy as sure starters and the other two men to be selected from among Kirwan, Mays and Caldwell. Dewhurst, in the low hurdles has already proved that he is no mean opponent, while Turkey Hughes, in the jumps, showed last season, while a freshman, that he is far above the average in ability.

Gordon Davis, now a freshman, will enter the meet as freshman representative of the University in the 80-yard dash. Davis has shown in past performances that he can go the distance in record time and he may bring back some points in the name of the University of Kentucky. He hails from Louisville.

According to Coach Buchheit he has entered the team more for the training that they will receive as a result of participation than for the glory of winning. Coach Buchheit is confident of the ability of his team but is considering the number of excellent athletes that will be entered when he says that experience is the one thing he hopes to gain by participation in the tourney.

Those who will make the trip are: Nantz, 80-yard dash; Hall, mile run; Allen, half mile run; Miller, quarter mile run; Brady, pole vault; Hughes, high jump; Dewhurst, low hurdles; Tracy, 80-yard dash; Miller, Tracy and two of the following, Kirwan, of Louisville, Mays and Caldwell are entered in the mile relay. Jack Frost, manager, and George Buchheit, coach, will accompany the team. Buchheit expects to return with his team Sunday morning.

The probable lineup for the Old Blue Devils is McFarland and Helm, forwards; Milward, center; and Carey and Tracy, guards. Remarkable Dog

The pledging of three new members to Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Economics honorary fraternity, was the feature of chapel exercises Tuesday at the fifth hour. The young women of the University to receive this honor are: Miss Nellie Gard, of the Extension Department; Miss Richie Stevens, a Junior, and Miss Mary Adams, a Senior.

"The aim of the fraternity is to think, to study and to care for human life," said Miss Sweeney in her brief talk on Phi Upsilon Omicron. This Greek letter honorary has the highest standards, not only in Kentucky, but in other states as well. It demands that every girl must have already made a worthy contribution to the school standards. Scholarship must be high and beliefs true.

The active members are: Erma Bain, Virginia Corbin, Catherine Gunn, Mattie Hodges, Christine Harmon, Elizabeth Cromwell, Elizabeth Morris, Dale Casner, Virginia Harrison, Pauline Park, Catherine Handiy, Elizabeth Galloway, Vivian Stone and Ruth Prewitt.

After the pledging Frank Ritter a blind musical composer, played several of his own compositions and exhibited his trained fox-terrier dog to an interested audience. This remarkable dog leads her master to any place named, tells the time, the day of the week or the month of the year, and is able to multiply and add.

PRACTICE ON MONDAY

Saturday marks the end of the first month of spring football practice at the University of Kentucky. The second will open Monday when Coach Murphy plans to lead his charges out on Stoll Field for the first out-of-door practice. The work heretofore has consisted in signal practice and in lectures on the system that Coach Murphy intends to employ in the coming football season.

The squad has been divided into two divisions with Dell Ramsey, captain of the Wildcats in the 1923 season, as leader of one of the teams and the present captain of the Wildcats, Curtis Sanders, leader of the second team. Each captain may get whatever recruits from the campus that he may desire and in addition has the men from among those that attended the first month's lectures, which have been divided equally between the two teams.

Uniforms will be issued Saturday and Monday to those who desire to participate in this final month of spring preparation. These two teams will be provided with two different sets of formations and plays, both of them based on the Murphy system. Games will be played with the two elevens as opponents. It is not expected that a full time contest will be played but they will meet on the grid-iron at least twice a week and probably three times, according to Coach Murphy.

Murphy is not depending upon brawn this year but insists that the average man with high intelligence makes a better man than one who is dependent upon brawn alone to win games.
